JJ Burns is a partner at Dollar Burns Becker & Hershewe, LC, where he focuses almost exclusively on litigation and trials related to commercial motor vehicle crashes. JJ practices primarily in Missouri, Kansas, and Illinois, and has represented clients in more than 30 states, where he works to expose the negligence and recklessness of all the actors in the supply chain.

An alumnus of Michigan Law School, JJ teaches a course on personal injury litigation at UMKC Law School, and spends a significant amount of time in the nation's capital advocating for safer highways and common-sense legislative and regulatory changes. JJ regularly contributes articles to trucking/transportation publications, law reviews, and other legal periodicals, and presents frequently on topics related to highway safety, motor carrier safety culture, truck crash litigation, and trial practice.
